(Recipe below)

Ingredients:

Dates (seedless): 1 cup (roughly chopped)

Almonds: 1/4 cup

Walnuts: 1/4 cup

Pumpkin seeds: 2 tbsp

Flaxseeds: 2 tbsp

Chia seeds: 1 tbsp

Desiccated coconut (optional): 2 tbsp

Ghee (clarified butter): 1 tbsp

Steps:

Grind the nuts and seeds: Add almonds, walnuts, pumpkin seeds, flaxseeds, and chia seeds to a blender or food processor. Coarsely grind them.

Blend the dates: In the same blender, pulse the chopped dates until they form a sticky paste.

Mix everything: In a bowl, combine the nuts, seeds, and date paste. Mix well with your hands.

Add ghee: Pour in the ghee and knead lightly until the mixture comes together smoothly.

Shape into ladoos: Take small portions and roll them into round balls.

Optional: Roll the ladoos in desiccated coconut for extra flavor.

These nutrient-dense ladoos are naturally sweet and free from refined sugar, supporting energy, hormonal balance, and fertility health. Store them in an airtight container and enjoy one per day!
